Lesson 12: Interviewing Activities continued	Lesson 12: Interviewing activities continued	Lesson 13: Beats
I will have them interview a new teacher using the strategies they have learned. They will then be expected to write an article about it to be published.	Today they will focus on interviewing a fellow student that has been recognized for something recently (could have won an award, been recognized in a game, etc.) Then they will be expected to do a write up to be published.	I will introduce the concept of beat reporting and how to be effective. It will be this type of reporting we use when we submit work to KSID. I will then assign different events for them to be the beat reporters for based off of their availability. Once completed, we will begin viewing the film, "All the President's Men" Inform them that they will be expected to complete a worksheet after viewing the film so be sure to be paying attention and to take notes.
Objectives Students will be able to: • use the interviewing strategies to write a piece about our new staff members.
